RSC BIO SOLUTIONS EXPANDING GLOBAL CAPABILITIES

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (May 4, 2016) – RSC Bio Solutions, a global leader in environmentally acceptable lubricants and cleaners, recently announced the addition of a new market manager for Europe and a new international representative. These new partnerships will further expand the company’s capabilities globally and support business worldwide.

RSC Bio Solutions hired Ian Nielsen as market manager for Europe. Ian brings more than 25 years of experience working for engineering and chemical companies, such as DuPont. He has held technical functions on product development and production engineering, as well as operational functions in maintenance and chemical plant management. Most recently, he has worked in sales and business development functions that provide service to industries such as oil and gas exploration, chemical process industry, aerospace engine design and marine applications. Leading RSC Bio Solutions’ growth initiatives in Europe, Nielsen works closely with internal technical, operational, sales and business development teams.

Additionally, RSC Bio Solutions welcomes Niels Binnendijk, owner of Blue Barrel Supply B.V., based in Hague, Netherlands, as representative of the full product portfolio. Niels brings to the team unmatched expertise in the global offshore markets – oil and gas, wind and de-commissioning.

“We are excited by these additions, as they are the first of a series of moves RSC Bio Solutions will be making to continue to enhance our ability to serve a global customer base,” said Asuama Yeboah-Amankwah, vice president of operations and sales at RSC Bio Solutions.

RSC Bio Solutions has support and stock available in their warehouses in Rotterdam and Singapore, along with distribution partners strategically located in Mexico, Brazil, Dubai, Singapore and other regions.
